Ann P. Kaiser, PhD, is the Susan W. Gray Professor of Education and Human Development at Peabody College of Vanderbilt University and the director of Kid Talk. Dr. Kaiser’s primary area of research is early language interventions for children with developmental disabilities and children at risk due to poverty. Dr. Kaiser was the co-director of the Sibling Research Consortium and is a member of the Sibling Leadership Network board of directors.

In this presentation Dr. Kaiser will discuss how referencing outcomes to expected development, effect sizes in high-fidelity studies, and population-specific outcomes is important in evaluating and improving both research and practice.
