THE NISONGER CENTER
BROWN BAG SERIES PRESENTS:

A comparison of reported parenting stress and youth internalizing and externalizing problems between Korea and the US

Please Join Us:
Friday January 15, 2010
12:00 – 1:00
243 McCampbell Hall

Presenter: Kyong-Mee Chung, PhD., BCBA
Chair and Associate Professor
Department of Psychology
Yonsei University, Seoul Korea

Dr. Kyong-Mee Chung is an Associate professor in the Department of Psychology at Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea. She received her Ph. D. in clinical psychology from the University of Hawaii and completed her post-doc trainings both at the Center for Development and Learning at Univ. of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Department of Psychiatry at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. She is a behavior analyst working with persons with developmental disabilities, especially providing assessment and treatment services for severe problem behaviors.

Kyong Mee Chung is currently visiting the University of Indiana at Bloomington as a short-term exchange scholar.