

Amy Rohling McGee (she/her/hers)

President

Health Policy Institute of Ohio

Amy Rohling McGee has served as the president of the Health Policy Institute of Ohio (HPIO), a nonpartisan, independent nonprofit organization that provides information and analysis to state policymakers and others, since 2010. She is a passionate leader, dedicated to improved population health, sustainable healthcare spending and equitable outcomes. She has more than 20 years of experience in management, government relations, policy development, strategic planning, stakeholder engagement, coalition building, communication and quality improvement.

Her prior public sector experience includes work in the executive branch of state government, focused on policy related to issues such as health insurance, health system improvement and Medicaid; and service in the state legislature as a Legislative Service Commission intern in the mid-1990s. Private sector experience includes five years as the executive director of the Ohio Association of Free Clinics, representing health clinics that served the uninsured, primarily through volunteers.

McGee earned her bachelor's degree and master's degree in social work from the Ohio State University. From 2005-2007 and from 2014-2021, she served on the Ohio State University Alumni Advisory Council; from 2019-2021 she served as the chair of the council. McGee was a board member of the National Network of Public Health Institutes from 2017-2021. In 2004, McGee received Columbus Business First's "Forty Under Forty" award and the Ohio State University Alumni Association William Oxley Thompson award.